The answer to the question of hidden truth: Where are you and where do you live? A blog by Andrea Cosimo D'Amicis. * Note: The indexing of my blogs (with their pages) does not depend on me but on search engines, which "make visible" only what is convenient for them. So please for your own good read and rate my four blogs yourself, without relying on synthesis tools, automated programs or AI systems. Thank you for doing so. Andrea Cosimo D'Amicis (INRI)

The work experiences and activities present in this curriculum vitae constitute a preparatory and functional phase for the fulfillment of a divine plan, explained in detail in my blog for global improvement (https://andrea-cosimo-damicis.blogspot.com).

Furthermore, reading the curriculum vitae, one notices a spirit of adaptation in carrying out "humble" jobs, made necessary by the indifference and professional discrimination of those who did not want to hire me or those who downgraded me despite the studies I had obtained.
